Living and Working in Dundee

Dundee has a spectacular location on the east coast of Scotland facing south at the mouth of the River Tay – one of the largest in the UK. With a population of around 147,000 it is Scotland's fourth largest city.

Home to the University of Dundee and Abertay University, as well as Dundee and Angus College, the city is an important academic centre, and with more than 40,000 students it has the highest ratio per head of population of any Scottish city. Biomedical and technological industries are major employers, and the city now accounts for 10% of the UK's digital-entertainment industry.

Dundee offers an urban/rural experience which is unparalleled. It is surrounded by beautiful coast and countryside. The city has its own beach at Broughty Ferry and there can be few other cities in the world that can boast access to three championship golf venues (including the world home of golf) and 38 courses within 30 minutes' drive.

Dundee is at the hub of a number of neighbouring communities which form the core travel to work area that use the city for work, professional services, retail and city-based leisure. More than 80% (4.4m) of Scotland's population is within a two hour drive. Dundee is well served by road, rail and air links.

A £1 billion master plan to regenerate and to reconnect the Waterfront to the City Centre is underway, with V&A Dundee as its heart. The city is rich with cultural and community provision, much of which has additional capacity and is distributed throughout the city. Green spaces and heritage attractions are particular hallmarks of the city. Dundee is a cultural hive – both historical and contemporary. Among its cultural strengths are Dundee Rep Theatre, Dundee Contemporary Arts with its cutting-edge exhibits, and The McManus: Dundee's Art Gallery and Museum. In December 2014 UNESCO appointed Dundee its first and only UK City of Design and the city joined 12 existing Cities of Design across the world. This brand will strengthen the city's profile as a city with global ambition.

Dundee is a leading shopping destination with its complimentary mix of national chains and independent retailers in a vibrant city centre housing the Overgate and Wellgate shopping centres.

The population in Dundee is expected to increase by 6.5% to 153,697 by 2035. This increase is across all age groups and is the first set of projections in many years to predict a population increase in the city. For years Dundee sought to reverse population decline and this may be a sign that the long term strategy for jobs for the city is turning the corner and strengthening its economic role.
